ANALYSIS

Feedback surveys are a valuable tool to advance student interest and instill productive changes in the institution.

The result of a student satisfaction survey conducted during the year 2022-2023 academic year was examined using a 5-point scale. An offline survey yielded 99 responses. 20 parameters on the various elements of the teaching-learning process and the facilities provided by the institution are measured in the survey. The result of the survey proves that the teachers of the institution maintain high standards in teaching. 79% of students choose “Strongly Agree” and “Agree” to indicate that the teacher quality is very high or exceptional.

The survey indicates the improvement needed in current opportunities for internships, field visits, and student exchange programmes. The survey also demands an increased use of ICT tools by the teachers in the classrooms.

ACTIONS TAKEN

The IQAC recommended, considering the constructive suggestions generated from the survey to include ICT tools into the teaching learning process and to take initiatives to provide best internship and field visit opportunities for the students.
